As you know, Qenta Inc. had pursued an agreement to purchase Euro Pacific Bank, but—due to mounting and unresolved complications—we have terminated that agreement. With the liquidation in disarray, the absence of necessary conditions to close, and insufficient resources being provided by the trustee for orderly claims, the path forward is likely to be drawn-out and uncertain.

Given these circumstances, and in partnership with Zaff Special Situations Ltd (“Zaff”), an affiliate of our shareholder, we want to offer you two straightforward choices to resolve your claim against the bank’s 2022 asset values:

Option 1:

- Zaff purchases your claim at 70 cents on the dollar (based on the claim balance in US Dollars when the bank went into liquidation – “Claim Balance”). This would settle your claim in full and allow you to move forward with certainty, ending any further involvement in this drawn-out process.

Option 2:

- Zaff purchases your Claim Balance at 60 cents on the dollar and issues you a Euro Pacific Bank liquidation token with a nominal number of tokens equivalent to the remaining Claim Balance. This token entitles you to a proportional share of any potential future recoveries through the liquidation process, which may be more or less than the number of tokens.

Both options are designed to provide clarity and closure. Option 1 is the fastest and easiest way to resolve your claim in full, while Option 2 offers the potential to participate in future recoveries from the ongoing liquidation process.

This offer is valid for 48 hours.

To proceed, simply reply to this message indicating your choice (Option 1 or Option 2). If you have questions or require further details, please let us know. We look forward to your response.

Sincerely,
The Qenta Team
